Science Integration in South Dakota

The Northern Great Plains Joint Venture (NGPJV) is a coalition of people who live, work, and recreate in the Northern Great Plains and who are concerned about the ongoing loss of our native grasslands and simultaneous declines in grassland bird populations. The NGPJV employs Science Integration Specialists who work to connect partners with locally relevant information and tools to benefit grassland conservation.

Science Integration Specialists can:

-  Collaborate on project prioritization and development
-  Connect projects to larger, regional initiatives like the Central Grasslands Roadmap
-  Assist with outcome reporting
-  Summarize new science and facilitate usage of new tools
-  Support peer-to-peer knowledge sharing and workshops
